

Please, please, please do not change the NJ DO-NOT-CALL rules.

As a retired senior citizen, I would hate to start receiving annoyance calls from any tele-marketers. It is bad enough that I must run to the phone to receive requests from all charities and about all people who want me to know they are running for office or are taking surveys. I read the newspapers and know who is running. I also donate to my favorite charities and do not want to be bothered with phone calls from them and, I surely don't want to take any surveys by phone. However, they are supposedly allowed to call.

Please do not allow any other telemarketers be allowed to bother the general public. I don't care if they claim they have rights - what about my rights? I pay for the phone and thus should be allowed to request I not get calls from telemarketers.

Thank you.
